CONDITIONS OF SALE.

1. The highest Bidder to be the Buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more Bidders, the lot so in dispute shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

2. The Purchasers to give their names and addresses, and to pay down a cash deposit, or the whole of the Purchase-money if required, in default of which the Lot or Lots so purchased to be immediately put up again and re-sold.

3. The Lots to be taken away at the Buyer's Expense and Risk upon the conclusion of the Sale, and the remainder of the Purchase-money to be absolutely paid, or otherwise settled for to the satisfaction of the Auctioneer, on or before delivery; in default of which the undersigned will not hold themselves responsible if the Lots be lost, stolen, damaged, or destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the Purchaser.

4. The sale of any article is not to be set aside on account of any error in the description, or imperfection. All articles are exposed for Public Exhibition one or more days, and are sold just as they are without recourse.

5. To prevent inaccuracy in delivery and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no Lot can, on any account, be removed during the sale.

6. Upon failure to comply with the above conditions, the money deposited in part payment shall be forfeited; all Lots encumbered within three days from conclusion of Sale shall be re-sold by public or private sale, without further notice, and the deficiency (if any) attending such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulter at this Sale, together with all charges attending the same. This Condition is without prejudice to the right of the Auctioneer to enforce the contract made at this Sale, without such re-sale, if he thinks fit.

PROEM.

PART I of this Catalogue comprises an interesting, varied collection of objects, chiefly of small size and decorative use: genuine Bronzes of many countries, Medallions, Antiquities, historical blue and white Plates, old Masters, Miniatures, Curios, etc. Among them will be found objects of decided interest or artistic value; such, for instance, are the bronze Medallions by Barre and David, an original badge of the Order of Cincinnati, a George Washington statuette, the Martha Washington portrait by Woerthmuller, the portraits of the De Peyster family, at the end, etc.

Part II, beginning with No. 171 and ending with 415, comprises my entire Collection of Trumbull Revolutionary and later Portraits, Groups, Sketches, and Studies, in oil, sepia, black and white, or pen, on canvas, india vellum and paper, drumheads, deerskin, book-covers, fly-leaves of books, wood and pewter; also Colonial and Revolutionary Blunderbusses, Pistols, Swords, Powder Horns, Field Glasses, Curios, frames of Hair-Locks, etc., either Trumbull's personal property, collected by him, or given to him by Washington and other prominent men and women of the period, forming together a Collection which, in point of historical interest, probably equals any Collection of similar character either in public or private possession.

With two exceptions, every Portrait and Sketch in Part II is the work of JOHN TRUMBULL, period 1775-1819. Each bears a date, and his autographic signature, either in full or abbreviated; many also have on the back of the frames his autographic endorsement giving name of the subject, sometimes coupled with information of an interesting character, or with pasted clippings of old newspapers containing anecdotes, biographies, etc. The Arms, Relics, frames of Hair, etc., are all accompanied by explanatory notes, also in Trumbull's own hand, either written on the objects themselves or upon attached tags. When specially important, such as the case of Blunderbusses and the Washington Pistols, the tags are supplemented with framed sketches of the objects themselves; others are in labelled boxes of a peculiar pattern. The care and fidelity thus exercised by Trumbull in giving correct attribution to every object, is exemplified in Nos. 202 and 374, both classed by him as "doubtful." Trumbull's certificates, therefore, may be considered of absolute authority on the question of origin and attribution. They convey that historical information which lends special interest to every object described.

While there is not in the entire Trumbull Collection a single object devoid of more than ordinary interest, and all deserve recognition, the greatest attraction must necessarily centre and culminate on the portraits of Gen. Washington, alone, or with his wife, namely, Nos. 196, 199, 209, 292-313, 25 in number; also the groups 319 to 338, in the greater part of which he is the central figure. Trumbull was an aide-de-camp to Washington in 1775 and 1776. He had therefore the most frequent opportunities for observation, and, being an ardent admirer of the General, threw into these portraits all the fervor, inspiration and skill of his youthful genius. Spiritual in conception, correct in resemblance, faithful and autographic in character, they vividly portray the great Commander as he really appeared in the first year of the Revolutionary War, — in the prime of life, with still youthful face, modestly carrying the consciousness of his power and authority; gracefully yet thoughtfully wearing his first military laurels; resolute in reverse, self-reliant and confident in himself and his cause! Such precious mementoes, at least, should escape the scattering process of an auction sale; it is perhaps still possible to keep them together; for this reason, the AMERICAN ART ASSOCIATION, under whose able management the sale takes place, if it deems proper, is authorized to sell Nos. 293-307 — the Washington 1776 sepia portraits — in one lot, at an upset price to be named at the sale.

The style of work is carefully indicated in the descriptive part of the Catalogue; it may yet be added that the harmonious blending of black, brown and white sepias with delicate pen shading and finish, upon a background frequently mellowed by age, especially when the work of an artist of Trumbull's extraordinary skill in portraiture, produces an effect most grateful and pleasing and of peculiar charm. Great rarity is also ascribed to this obsolete if not lost style of art, which flourished chiefly in England between 1750 and 1810, of which some good examples are preserved in the Kensington Museum.

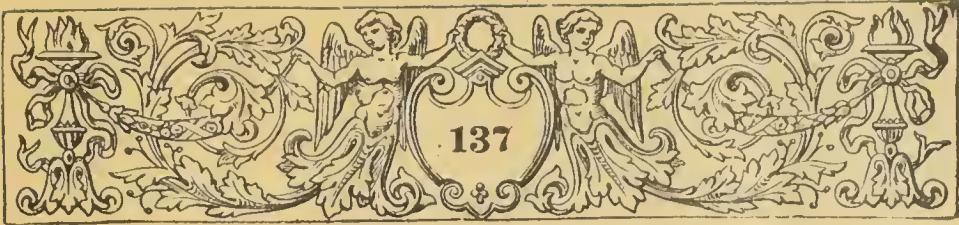

As specimens of Revolutionary art, or for the appropriate decoration of Colonial rooms and libraries, nothing can excel the groups and portraits of this Collection. Their durability also is proved by their general excellent preservation, their freshness and strength of tone.

Descendants of American Revolutionary families, Historical and Patriotic Societies, will find in this Collection many portraits of the distinguished men of the Revolutionary period. To facilitate recognition, a list of family names will be found on back of title.

With pride, yet regret, I offer this unique Revolutionary Collection to the appreciative and patriotic American public.

THE TRUMBULL COLLECTION.

Each object in this Collection is precisely as found when it came in my possession, no restoration, barring the replacing of a few broken glasses, having been made. All the written inscriptions on the objects themselves, on the back of frames, or on attached labels or tags, are in Trumbull's own autographic hand; on account of their peculiar interest the greater part of these have been copied verbatim by the cataloguer, and appear in italics, after the description of each number.

- 204 FRAME OF HAIR. Three locks of hair, fastened to a piece of vellum, within bronze mat, under glass, in old sealed frame, 7 x 6 in. The upper one inscribed, Gen. Washington's Mother's Hair; the second, Martha Washington's Hair at 68; the third, Martha Washington's Hair when a girl. J. T. On back of frame: Hair of Gen. Washington's Mother and his Wife when young and old; the grey is the third part of one I got from Mrs. W. J. T.
- 205 MARTHA DANDRIDGE. Child's bust, three-fourths right, in low-cut dress, 11 x 8½ in. Oil, on canvas, in old frame. On back: Martha Dandridge, dau.(gher) of John Dandridge, 8½ years old. Painted by John Smybert, 1741. Wife of Gen. Washington, 1759. This portrait was presented to me by Mrs. Pollock; all her young girl friends, Mrs. Lewis Rayburn, Miss Humphreys, Mrs. Stevens, wanted it, and I had to make their portraits in place. J. T.
- Earliest portrait of Martha Washington; her features easily recognizable in the childish face.
- 206 MARTHA WASHINGTON. Brass Foot Warmer. Oval, quaint, elegant form, with ribbed sides and frame to support feet. Brass Foot Warmer owned by the wife of Gen. Washington. She owned it before her marriage to the General; it has travelled many miles, been to church very much, and gave great comfort. J. T.
- 207 MARTHA WASHINGTON. Embroidery or Sampler. Bouquet of Myosotis, tied with a red ribbon inscribed "Forgett me not;" beneath this the signature MARTHA WASHINGTON. Silk, on white moire antique, from a dress worn by her at official receptions. Under glass in old oval frame, 12 x 10 in.
- 208 MARTHA WASHINGTON. Lock of hair, tied up at end to label inscribed Martha Washington's Hair. J. T.

PORTRAITS OF GEN. GEO. WASHINGTON AND FAMILY.

292 GEN. GEO. WASHINGTON. Life size military portrait facing three-quarters to left, in oil colors on canvas. J. T. 1776. 22 x 19 in. Under glass, in ornate old gold frame. Card-board attached, inscribed: Life Size Bust Portrait of Gen. Washington in 1776 exhibit in N. York and admired very much. Taken by me to Eng.—and had to hide it away with my friend B. W. J. T.

A striking example of Trumbull's early work, assimilating in style and execution to the portrait of his parents now or lately on exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, but far superior to it in expression and artistic excellence. While resembling Trumbull's later portraits of Washington, it possesses the advantage of having been taken at a much earlier period, and, like all the following, of representing him in the very prime of life, immediately or soon after he had won his first military laurels before Boston. This portrait has never been exhibited by the present owner, even privately; it will, therefore, make its first appearance in the present sale.

- 293 GEN. GEORGE WASHINGTON AND HIS WHITE CHARGER. Full length figure, the left arm extended on horse's saddle, the right elbow resting on cannon adorned with American flag of stripes of red and white alternating, view of camp, and companies of troops in brilliant uniforms at left, building on hill in back ground. Oil colors on hard papier maché or card board, entire surface delicately crackled, resembling a mosaic. J. T. 1776. 20 x 14½ in. In old gold frame on back of which an English exhibit label, No. 309 General Washington; also Trumbull's certificate, Took to England on first visit. Rubbed & restored J. T.

Trumbull's favorite representation of Washington, slightly modified in the two following. Very similar, except in position of horse, to a similar composition of later date now in the collection of Gen. Rogers, Baltimore, Md., which, like this, is signed on the front, not back, as was customary with Trumbull in his later work in oil colors.

All the following are drawn in sepia, black and white, sometimes outlined or finished in ink, on vellum or deer-skin. Carefully framed, with glass front and back. The measurements do not include a black inner border nor, of course, the frame.

- 294 GEO. WASHINGTON. Same subject. Similar to last, but stern, determined expression; the left hand holds chapeau, fagots on the ground to left. 19½ x 15 in. Signed J. T. 1776 twice, at cannon's mouth and below horse's hoof. Heavy mahogany frame.
- 295 GEO. WASHINGTON. Same subject. Similar to last, but Washington's face with natural expression, whip in right hand, cannon balls on ground to left. J. T. 1776. 20 x 15 in.

In lacquered frame, adorned with gilt wreath, U. S. shield in false colors and heraldry in centre above. No doubt framed abroad.

- 296 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Full-length military figure, the head turned three-fourths to left, unsheathed sword in right hand pointing to unfolded map or plan of campaign on the ground before him. J. T. 1776. On back: Gen. Washington the morning after his retreat from Long Island taken at Haarlem Heights. J. T. 22 x 14 in. Large frame.

This portrait has received the highest commendation from Col. John Austin Stevens, and other high authorities on Washington's portraits, because of its strength and autographic character. Trumbull here gives admirable expression to Washington's individuality and determination, after a serious reverse, to continue the struggle on new ground against his formidable foe.

- 297 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Full-length figure in heavy watch-coat, a field glass in right hand, the left resting upon sword. Jno. Trumbull 1776. On back: Gen. Washington at Boston, with his glass. Said to be one of my best pictures of him. J. T. 12 x 6½ in. Broad frame.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bryant Johnston, the talented authoress of the "Portraits of Washington," is the only author cataloguer consulted who mentions Washington as having worn this typical colonial coat. Unique.

- 298 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Head, slightly reduced, three-fourths to left. Bold brush work, black and white, entirely unlike any portraits heretofore known. 1776 J. T. 8 x 7 in. On back: Gen. Washington Aug. 22 '76, and printed biography of Washington. Broad frame.
- 299 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Bust, three-fourths left, in military cloak. Of the highest interest; drawn on hard-tanned deerskin, the hair still adhering to back. J. T. 1776. 7½ x 6 in. On back: Gen. Washington 44 years, Boston.

Probably drawn on the occasion of Washington's 44th birthday, celebrated before Boston.

- 300 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Similar to last, and equally fine. Deerskin. J. T. 1776. 6½ x 5¼ in.
- 301 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Bust, three-fourths to left, black, brown and white, in uniform and military cloak. J. T. 1776. 7 x 6 in. On back: One of my strongest sketches of Gen. W. on thick cow-hide. Made in Boston. J. T.

Head a trifle larger than the greater part of other portraits on vellum; very carefully drawn and delicately finished. The superior merit of this portrait has been generally recognized.

- 302 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Bust, three-fourths left, in full military uniform, of the type subsequently adopted by Trumbull in his portraiture of Washington. J. T. 1776. 6¾ x 4¾ in.

- 303 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Bust, three-fourths to left, in undress military coat (petite tenue) open at the neck. J. T. 1776. 8 x 6 in.

Pronounced by competent critics a perfect gem in expression and finish.

- 304 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Bust in undress military coat, as last, three-fourths to right. Thin face and fatigued expression. J. T. 1776. $6\frac{1}{2}$ x $5\frac{1}{2}$ in.

- 305 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Full-length miniature, wearing chapeau. The right hand rests upon a musket, the left grasps a sword, headquarters dog at his feet. Deerskin. J. T. 1776. $7\frac{1}{2}$ x 4 in.

- 306 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Similar to last, the right hand rests on musket, chapeau in left. Deerskin. J. T. 1776. 8 x $3\frac{1}{2}$ in.

- 307 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Seated miniature figure, wearing chapeau; the left hand rests on sword, a cloak over right arm, the left foot rests upon a pyramid of cannon-balls. J. T. 1776. $7\frac{3}{4}$ x $4\frac{1}{2}$ in. Extremely fine work, perfect in every detail.

- 308 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Full length figure, in civilian dress, advancing; the right hand holds a scroll and rests upon a table; hat in left hand, and a heavy cloak hanging on wall. J. T. 1786. 19 x $11\frac{1}{2}$ in. On back: Gen. Washington, a delegate to Philadelphia, May 2d 1786, one of 7 from Virginia to examine the Trade of U. S.

- 309 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Oil miniature, black, brown and white, on wood, in bronze mat and ebonized frame. On back: Only one after Stuart in 1808. He made one of the small ones after mine of G. W. J. T.

GEORGE AND MARTHA WASHINGTON.

- 310 GEORGE AND MARTHA WASHINGTON. Busts of Washington, and of Martha, his wife, side by side; beneath them, in bold, autographic hand, N. York, 1776, Jno. Trumbull. Harmonious blending of black and white sepia and pen work, on smooth-tanned pigskin, $6\frac{1}{2}$ x $5\frac{1}{2}$ in.; old gilt frame. In cedar box.

A most charming composition, unique in character and quality, in the best possible preservation. Worthy to occupy the place of honor in the best public or private collection of Revolutionary portraits.

311 GEORGE AND MARTHA WASHINGTON. General and Mrs. Washington seated on balcony before windows, reviewing troops. J. T. 1776. On back: Gen. and Mrs. Washington viewing the troops at Haaerlem Heights. J. T. 17 x 9 in. Oblong square, drawn on one piece of parchment.

Another charming composition, strongly suggestive of the deep interest taken by Lady Washington, as she was called by the Continental troops, in the struggle for liberty and independence.

312 GEORGE AND MARTHA WASHINGTON. Portraits side by side, in black, brown and white, Washington in undress uniform, open at the neck, $\frac{3}{4}$ l., Mrs. W. with motherly appearance, $\frac{3}{4}$ to r. 1776 Jno. Trumbull. $9\frac{1}{2}$ x 7 in. In broad frame, on back of which is a newspaper clipping recalling the fact that, while in the Jerseys, Washington was presented by Judge Boudinot of Newark with a barrel of cider, superior in quality to the Virginia product; also Trumbull's inscription: I drank the cyder with the Gen. and wife, also Gen. Putnam and many other boys from the barrel that Boudinot sent. One of my best home-like pictures of the Gen. and wife at the time of Boudinot's cyder. J. T.

313 GEORGE WASHINGTON. Miniature military portrait in ink and sepia on wood. J. T. 1776. 4 x $3\frac{1}{2}$ in. Large veneered frame.

314 MARTHA WASHINGTON. Conventional portrait on wood, etc., as last, with frame to match.

These two lots will be sold together if desired.

MARTHA WASHINGTON.

315 MARTHA WASHINGTON. Cabinet portrait, pen-and-ink, on India paper. J. T. after W. (Wolleston ?). Mahogany frame.

The original oil painting from which this was apparently copied is at present in the possession of General Rogers, Baltimore.

- 316 MARTHA WASHINGTON. Seated figure to knee, black and white, in low-cut dress; the left arm, bent on table, supports head, as if in thoughtful reverie; the right hand holds fan on lap. Bunch of golden-gray hair in upper left corner, under glass. J. T. 1786. 8 x 6½ in.

In heavy mahogany frame, movable back, under which description: Martha, wife of Gen. George Washington, with lock of hair. J. T. One of the most charming and best-finished portraits of the collection.

- 317 MARTHA WASHINGTON. Bust, three-fourths right, in head-dress and drapery. Pen-and-ink on deerskin. J. T. 1776. 4 x 3½ in.

- 318 MARTHA WASHINGTON (?). Portrait to hip, seated. Drawn on deerskin; damaged by injudicious cleaning. J. T. 1776. 4 x 3½ in.

GROUP OF AMERICAN GENERALS; BATTLE AND CAMP SCENES; COLONIAL INTERIORS, ETC.

Drawn in sepia and inks on parchment; all between glass, carefully framed. Whether based on actual incidents, or simply productions, in a patriotic or humorous vein, of Trumbull's effulgent youthful genius, nothing exists of more vivid interest to Americans than these glimpses of life at or about the American headquarters during the early days of the Revolutionary period.

- 320 GENERALS SCHUYLER, GREENE AND MOULTRIE. Greene at left, sword in right hand; Moultrie in centre with field glass; Schuyler at right, sword in left hand, right foot on dismounted cannon, field-work to left. J. T. 1776. Circular, diameter 14½ in.

- 321 CAMP SCENE. Full military figures of Gens. Washington and Putnam; the former, with stern expression, points with extended arm to his right; artilleryman to left, loading a cannon, artillery horses and rider moving to rear; tents to right, stacked muskets in centre, cannon-balls and fagot to left. J. T. 1776. 16 x 13 in.

324 WASHINGTON AT TEA TABLE. Colonial room, as in last. Gen. Washington, Gen. Benedict Arnold and Mrs. Pollock seated around a table on which is a tea-set; Washington listens to Arnold, who reads from a book; headquarters dog at door to left, sentry without. J. T. 1776. 15 x 12 in.

325 WASHINGTON AND THE MARAUDER. Gens. Washington and Putnam on horseback in centre; the former, his right arm extended, orders a marauder to restore cattle to owner—a woman standing at cottage door to right; plough and cannon in the foreground, a forest in the rear. Somewhat damaged. J. T. 1776. 21 x 66 in.

This incident, from note on back, took place at Mrs. Hartrice's farm, N. Y.

326 WASHINGTON, PUTNAM AND ARNOLD. Washington in centre, Putnam at left, a musket resting against wall between them; Arnold at right, faces centre, leaning against wall. View of the palisades and Hudson in background. J. T. 1776. 16 x 15 in. On back: Arnold's visit to Washington, 1776, Is. Putnam in con. Gilt border, large frame.

327 WASHINGTON AND MRS. POLLOCK. Interior of Colonial room, old clock marking the hour of nine, portrait of Miss Pollock, signed J. T., on wall. Mrs. Pollock, alarmed at an unusual noise, looks intently to left; Washington standing in centre, throws aside a heavy drapery and discloses the cause of her fear, — a litter of pigs at the door. J. T. 1776. 14 x 11 in. Large frame.

A composition entirely in pen and ink; this humorous incident, from note on back, took place at headquarters, Haarlem, N. Y.

328 WASHINGTON'S ILLNESS. Shadowy figure of Gen. Washington seated upright in canopied bed; Miss Pollock enters the room at left side and throws open a casement window; open book, candle-stick and pitcher on small stand in centre, arm-chair to left. J. T. 1776. 15 x 12 in.

329 SURRENDER OF BRITISH OFFICER. Headquarters room. General Washington, in full military uniform, receives a sword from the hands of British officer in watch-coat; table at left, on which are a document and pen; three Continental soldiers to rear, chair to right; on the wall hang two military portraits, each signed J. T. No date. 15 x 10 in. Pen-and-ink.

330 WASHINGTON PLAYING CHESS. Interior of Colonial library. Gens. Washington and Putnam in military uniform, seated at a circular table, playing chess, the former with placid, the latter with perplexed expression. To the right are seated the Misses Annie and Laura Humphreys, observing the game. Fire-place and panoply of arms to left, book-case in rear, open window at right side. Pen-and-ink. J. T. 1776. 15 x 10 in.

331 GENERAL PUTNAM AT THE LIVINGSTONS. Interior of Colonial drawing-room. Young lady, in rich attire, holds Putnam's hat, and introduces the General, who bows deeply before two seated ladies. Paintings on wall, door to left, fire-place to right. Pen-and-ink. J. T. 1776. 15 x 10 in.

332 LOWER HEADQUARTERS ROOM. Gens. Washington and Putnam in full military uniform, seated at a small table partaking of a glass of rum. Orderly Officer Trumbull, a trumpet in his hand, looks upon the scene from without, through an open window. J. T. 1776. 13 x 8½ in.

333 UPPER HEADQUARTERS ROOM. Washington in undress uniform but wearing sword; with his right arm he supports Miss Pollock, who presses her head against his shoulder, in fear. On a ladder without, General Putnam, having thrown aside the heavy window drapery, sounds a blast on trumpet. Fire-place with burning logs, and panoply of arms to right. J. T. 1776. 14 x 9 in.

334 WASHINGTON AT CHURCH. Washington in full uniform and lady, seated side by side, a prayer-book in their hands. J. T. 1776. $10\frac{1}{2}$ x 8 in.

A lady of the highest Revolutionary ancestry informed cataloguer that the person represented in this group is unquestionably Mrs. Major John Park Curtis, nee Calvert, who frequently accompanied the General to church at Cambridge.

335 WASHINGTON AND PUTNAM. Gen. Washington, in full uniform as commander-in-chief, affectionately rests his right hand on the shoulder of Putnam, who is seated on a drum. J. T. 1776. 8 x 5 in.

337 WASHINGTON AT PRAYER. Washington, bareheaded, kneels upon the ground, his hands uplifted in prayer, the face and hands apparently poorly retouched. Putnam, wearing chapeau, his left hand resting on sword, is seated on a rock to right, looking in opposite direction. Rocky height and view of the Hudson River in the background. On back: Washington and Putnam at Stony Point. J. T. 1776. 15 x $10\frac{1}{2}$ in.

338 BATTLE OF TRENTON. To the right, Washington on horse-back; a foot-guard, pistol in hand, holds horse's bridle; at the left, Gen. Greene, heading a body of cavalry, gallops at full speed towards the field of action. In centre, a coarse-featured, stout Hessian falls backward, shot through the breast; foot-soldiers charge upon fighting and retreat.

ing Hessians ; advancing officers on horseback and body of reserve cavalry to right, dead Hessians and dismantled or captured cannon in front ; peaked roofs of houses or barracks visible to rear. J. T. 1776. 20 x 14 in. On back of frame : Attack of the Hessians at Trenton. J. T.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

- 339 WITHIN INDEPENDENCE HALL, PHILA.
